Delegates To Go to Farm Bureau

State Meeting Will Be Held at Waco Next Week; Wheat Program Will Be Submitted

The Randall County Farm Bureau Association will send a full delegation to the State Farm Bureau conference to be held in Waco next week.

The Randall County Farm Bureau has been requested to submit thru its delegates to the State meeting a recommendation on future programs for wheat. This recommendation to be the basis for discussion and formulation of the State Farm Bureau policy on wheat programs.

It is expected that Texas will have a large delegation at the National Farm Bureau meeting to be held in Chicago next month.

The Randall county delegates will submit recommendations for a wheat program that is much simpler than the program in effect prior to the war.

This proposed program would not include any market quotas, except as a last resort. It would eliminate subsidies on wheat and penalties for non-compliance with acreage allotments.

The only price support proposed in the recommendations is that of the Commodity Credit Corporation loans based on the parity principle and available to all wheat growers who comply with acreage allotments.

If enough other counties and state farm organizations join the Randall county group there is hope that the proposed program will receive favorable consideration in Washington.

The voting delegates who will represent Randall county at the State meeting are: A. E. Wise, L. E. Mason, J. W. Spencer and Marion L. Davis. Alternate delegates who will attend are: H. G. Persons, G. E. Wesley, H. W. Burrus and Clarence Beckman.

They expect to leave Canyon early Sunday for Waco.

Buffalo Band To Give Christmas Program Dec. 17

The Buffalo Band gave a Thanksgiving Concert Monday, November 19, to an appreciative audience. The concert is the first of a series of concerts to be given this winter by the band under the direction of Glenn A. Truax.

The band played the "Victory Overture" based upon Beethoven's "Fifth Symphony," the theme of which was used in England as background music for propaganda broadcast to Germany, emphasizing the V for the letter V meaning "V for Victory."

Other numbers were a silly symphony built upon the "Three Blind Mice." Bill Montgomery acted as master of ceremonies.

For the last half of the concert Thanksgiving music and an Indian dance by 10 girls of the Women's Physical Education classes were featured.

The next concert will be held on December 17 and Christmas music will be the theme of the concert.

Junior Red Cross In Many Schools

Good Record Was Set in the Annual Roll Call of the Junior Red Cross

The Junior Red Cross roll call ended last week with all schools of the county joining and oversubscribing their quota.

The total amount collected was $96.50. Of this amount $19.00 has been sent to the area headquarters in St. Louis, and the remainder has been deposited with the local Red Cross treasurer.

In addition to the membership drive, the Junior Red Cross has outlined an ambitious service program for the year. Among the projects which members will make for hospital use are menu covers, lap boards, afghans, bridge table covers, wash cloths, comic and cross-word puzzle books.

Pupils of the Demonstration School recently assisted in wrapping packages at the Red Cross room.

In addition to their contribution to the membership drive, pupils of the Canyon Grade School in October contributed about $50 in food and clothing to local emergency needs.

Schools of the county that are participating in the program of the Junior Red Cross this year are Burch, Connally, Umbarger, Canyon High School and Grade School, W. T. High and Elementary Demonstration School.

Miss Novella Goodman is Junior Red Cross chairman. The committee of teachers and parents responsible for the promotion of Junior Red Cross work follows: Miss Adele Barnes, Miss Elva Fronabarger, Miss Lou Ella Patterson, Miss Jean Moore, Miss Ruth Lowes, the Sisters of Mercy, Mrs. B. Mr. and Mrs. George Vineyard left Sunday for Big Spring where Mr. Vineyard will be engaged in the nursery business with his father. He was recently discharged from the armed forces after serving in Europe.

Capt. Weldon Bright spent the week end here. He arrived in Amarillo last week to visit his wife, and is on terminal leave from the army. He returned recently from service in France.

Three bucks and one turkey are the prizes brought back by Mathero Brown, Cecil Briggs, Bill Martin, Martin's son, Harold, and Harold's friend, Harry Reeves.

In the Southwestern part of New Mexico, where the big bucks and turkeys still roam, hunters check in and out of Magdalena. From there the Canyon party drove to a water tank where 5 other parties were camped. Right there was where the Old West began for some of those parties would even get your fire wood at night.

Most of the hunting was done in the foothills where one could drive a pickup if he had the nerve to rim drive. On one such drive by our party, Mr. Brown had the other boys out walking. Mr. Martin declares that the truck was sitting on a 75 degree angle. However that may be; the men piled rocks on the upper fender and then all stood on that fender too until Mr. Brown had driven to the top.

Mr. Brown, who has been hunting in New Mexico for 12 years killed his first turkey on this trip. He has always killed a buck and hopes to get a bear next time that he goes.

Mr. Briggs had the edge on the other hunters with a 30.06 rifle. He got his buck at a range of 300 yards, shooting him in the body the first shot then in the neck before he hit the ground.

Mr. Martin has not been given a full fledged hunter's rank because he carried his bed-springs along on the trip. However, it is rumored that others had air mattresses which would also disqualify them.

One of the most exciting moments during the hunt was when a fellow on horseback from another party drove an 11 point buck past the Canyon party. Although they shot at the buck, he passed without their scoring. The other man chased him until he gave out then got off his horse and shot him at 30 yards distance.

Told for the truth, the best story heard on the trip was: A fellow went to a ranch, rented a burro, rode him up a mountain, hunted all around the mountain, came back to the donkey, mistook him for a deer and killed him. Then the man had to walk home.

Local Board Gets Large Call Under Selective Service

At the same time that great numbers of men are being discharged others are entering the service for the first time.

The board also has a call for 7 men to take their physical examinations on December 2. This list has not been made up yet but will be available next week.

THANKSGIVING DAY

We have much to be thankful for today—the first Thanksgiving Day since World War II came to an end. Regardless of the prevailing turmoil in many parts of the world, peace again reigns in America, for which all of us are duly thankful.

The entire world has been violently upset by the terrible war which has afflicted every nation. Writing a just peace is the big problem, but we are thankful that the heads of the various nations have been sitting down together with the determination to write a peace this time that will endure. The world has witnessed something new as national unity is being shown to its small degree.

May the blessedness of Thanksgiving surround the entire world today as that petty jealousies and bickerings shall be forgotten as our national leaders continue their efforts to write the peace.

The War Department is pulling out the big guns in an effort to push through Congress the bill providing for compulsory military training. General Eisenhower was brought home from Europe to testify in favor of the bill. He made an impressive appeal for military training. He stated that we must have a trained group of men ready for war when needed in all right. We agreed that such a trained group would be very advantageous. But just what is the War Department doing about our supply problem? We are told that new B-29's, machines never put into action, are being wrecked rather than kept for an emergency. It takes months to even get ready to build such planes. Munition plants are being closed out by the wholesale, and munition and machinery are being sent away, or sold at a great sacrifice. In the early months of this war our men in Europe trained with wooden guns, and studied aviation from books with no hopes of getting planes. And we going to have an army of five or six million men trained ready for combat, and then have nothing with which they can fight?

Under ordinary conditions we do not like pressure groups. Besides, some usually prevail when such tactics prevail. But we believe that small war dealers have a just cause in their attack upon CIO for demanding that they accept all or a greater part of the increased cost of our manufacturing. Just think up and we have many war dealers in the average small town, ever makes more than a bare living out of his business. And then let your mind run back and we have many dealers have actually gone broke in the business. Automobile agencies are not such highly profitable businesses. And many people think CIO has no business trying to persuade that group of citizens, most of whom are substantial local people scattered throughout the nation trying their best to perform a service to the people of their communities.

We have been told that we have the greatest navy in the world. We thought that this navy was doing a pretty good job. As a matter of fact, Japan would not have fallen so quickly had our navy not played havoc with the Jap ships. Naval officers want to keep our navy at battle strength. They want to have a navy equal to that of war time. Therefore we were somewhat shocked to read that a high navy officer said the other day that our navy of today was not capable of putting up a first class fight. He reasoned that we had discharged men too rapidly. The man on the street wants to know: Are we being kidded for the benefit of those who want a big navy, or are we actually in a bad shape today?

Ford asks a pertinent question: If this company signs a contract with CIO, will the union carry out its terms? Labor took the no-strike pledge during the war, but strikes continued. Labor leaders said that they had to control over their members. Neither the labor leaders nor the members were responsible to the public. It looks as if the rule should work both ways. If the employer has his hands tied by a contract, why shouldn't the union membership likewise be bound to carry out the terms of the contract?

We are told that the biggest political battle in Texas will be staged in January. You will recall that the Senate voted to meet in January for the purpose of passing upon the vacation appointments of Governor Shepley. Legal minds find no provision for such a special session. The House will not meet until this branch does not pass on appointments. It is stated that the Governor will refuse to submit his appointments to this session of the Senate. Opponents of the Governor in the Senate say that they will maintain the Secretary of State to submit the appointments which have been filled by the Governor. The Governor knows the constitution and is not bothered about the legality of this session. As any rule, this proposed session is going to write a considerable amount of political history which may have a direct bearing upon the political campaign next summer. There will be a merry war under the big dome at Austin. On with the battle! So get your poll book ready and be ready to take your part in the big next day.

It begins to look to us that the labor faction is going to win in the management-labor conflict in Washington. AFPP and John Lewis have thrown in together to defeat the growing CIO. Management delegates will not get what they want. As a result CIO can throw a monkey wrench into the works and wreck all plans. The result? The public is getting sick and tired of all this dispute. The public is clamoring for consumer goods. There will be some available as long as industry is served up by these disputes. As a result the government will step in and again take charge of plans. This is exactly what CIO wants. This labor group control policies in Washington, and it knows that it can get more out of the administration than any other faction. In the meanwhile the public will be in the middle of the big squeeze.

If Russia would simply open up and give the world some information about internal affairs, much of the suspicion would disappear. Is it because Stalin is fearful that the party could not continue its strange hold on internal affairs, or is Russia still as suspicious as ever of America and England? Who knows?

When all of the evidence is in on Pearl Harbor, we shall probably not be so proud of the manner in which our top rank military leaders have conducted themselves. The people should be given all of the facts. There will then be time for action as well as words.

There has been considerable work done in Texas over the results of the Baptist State Convention which takes a day at the President because of his reported love for poker and whiskey drinking. There would have been no wonderment if the convention had denounced the money-roids where the common man goes to put on a spree. Ever so often the law made such games and runs in the man of the street, who has to excuse for drinking booze or shooting craps. America has been accustomed to shutting its eyes to "crime in high places." Washington, D. C., is the worst spot in the nation. The public accepts this because it has not determined what is to do about it. Challenging the personal habits of the President is something new. We shall see what we shall see.

Just what business the British have in killing citizens of Japan, and what business do we have in furnishing the munitions for one faction to kill another faction is as clear as mud to the man on the street. These all line up with the aftermath of the World War. The British accuse the Japs with having something to do with the Japs situation, while we claim that the Japs and the Russians have more than a passing interest in the situation in China. All of which leads liberty loving Americans to the conclusion that since we are the strongest nation in the world, our obligations to other nations have increased to such an extent that we will be forced perhaps, against our better judgment, to take a strong hand in the affairs of the world. We may not like it, but what else can we do about it?

The President has agreed with Britain and Canada that the atomic bomb shall be outlawed. But the good from atomic energy will be made available to nations who wish to use it for the good of mankind. Since we spent two billion dollars on the bomb we are not going to throw the secret open to all nations. We still hope that the English speaking nations will have plenty of these bombs around handy and ready to use if any nation tries to pull a swift one on us.

A lot of political shenanigans have appeared on our desk. We did not know that there were so many printed in Texas. It looks as if a lot of freelance writers were out to save the state. Or are they being paid to publicize these so-called uplift political shenanigans?

We hear rumors of hot political battles in Randall county, and throughout Texas next year. Play safe. Have a poll tax receipt before the battle starts. You will not want to sit on the sidelines and be helpless with so much excitement in the air.

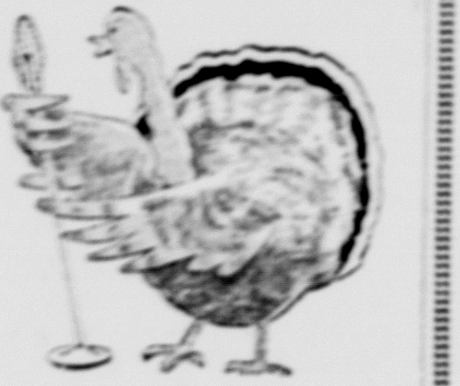

Prime Minister Attlee talked to Congress last week. His appeal was for a big loan, about an billion dollars. There is something about the British that America could learn. Regardless of party which is in power, Britain has a foreign policy—to get everything for Britain as long as they can. Attlee may have been elected as a laborer, but his foreign policy is an different from that of Churchill, the ultra-conservative. We have no idea as to what Outages is going to do about this huge loan. We never collected a cent in any of our foreign investments after World War I. The chances are that we will not collect a cent if we make this loan. The question which confronts Congress is: Shall we rebuild England as a better in future wars, or shall we try to save our friends? After England gets her loan, Russia will be demanding a big loan. We have a better chance to collect from Russia than from England.

The Gallup Poll says that there is a greater swing in America in favor of compulsory military training. What kind of training, and where? We would like to have this information before becoming enthusiastic about the proposal. Even a majority of Congress does not have a definite opinion, simply because no definite procedure has been established.

Totals of the last battalion marching through the jungles to a hopeless battle sang: "The Eyes of Texas."

The American submarine U. S. S. Sea Owl has a torpedo aboard that claims Texas heritage. It is named "Pat Alice From Dallas."

Thanksgiving 1945

This year we approach Thanksgiving in the devout spirit of our Puritan ancestors, who gave thanks for what, today, would seem very meager blessings. Our spirit is humble as we express gratitude for the mighty heritage which is ours to defend—and we are grateful for the Victories which are coming to us—and for the Victories which must yet come before the forces of evil are vanquished.

For the blessing which are ours — Freedom of Speech and of Worship — we give thanks; and pray that in the future, as good soldiers on the Home Front we may be truly worthy of these blessings.

As you know, many items are not available now . . . but we are all looking forward to the day when we can again offer you the Quality Equipment you want; meanwhile, we are maintaining the most complete service and repair department possible.

Meeting Features Dr. Ima Barlow

Thursday afternoon November 15, the Parent Teachers Association met in the grade school library.

Beginning the program, members of the sixth grade sang "I Had A Little Talk With The Lord," after which Dr. Ima Barlow spoke on the topic "What Will Take The Place of War." She discussed the New World Charter, its purpose, and its defects. Stressing the responsibility of the citizens and schools toward maintaining peace, she expressed the opinion that if everyone would work as hard as they worked to win the war, there would be everlasting peace.

Following Dr. Barlow's speech was a treasury report after which the members voted on the budget of the year. It was decided that from the carnival proceeds three hundred dollars would go to the grade school and the same amount would go to the high school for its own use.

For having the greatest percentage of mothers present at R. T. A. meeting, the sophomore class will receive one dollar as a prize.

COUNT YOUR BLESSINGS

Thanksgiving—once again! We set aside a day for giving thanks, and this year we have much for which to be thankful. The war is over and many loved ones are back with their families and among friendly people. We have food in abundance, and may we be so grateful for this fact that we will share it with those unfortunate peoples of other countries who do not have the necessary amount to support life.

November 22 is not just a day in which we are supposed to fill up on many out of the ordinary delicacies, celebrating, visiting relatives or friends, but it is a day for recalling the many blessings given to us each day, and to give thanks for those blessings. How grateful we should be that war will not ravage our home shores! Aren't things settling back once again to the American way of living?

Here's Carrier Foe Can't Sink

Battered Intrepid Still in Action; 650 Planes, 80 Ships to Credit.

WASHINGTON.—Planes and guns of the aircraft carrier USS Intrepid have destroyed 80 enemy ships and 650 planes. She took a terrific pounding to do it. The navy reported, according to the Associated Press, that the Intrepid has been hit more frequently than any other of our aircraft carriers.

Four times this Essex-class carrier suffered battle damage within 15 months of lively Pacific operations. But she is back in action again.

The 80 ships sent to the bottom by the Intrepid's pilots included an aircraft carrier. They helped sink the Japanese super-battleship, the 45,000-ton Yamato. They probably sank 30 other enemy vessels and damaged 179 more.

The Intrepid's latest brush with disaster came on last April 16 while her airmen were carrying the war to Japan's home islands again, after having helped to send the Yamato to the bottom with two dozen bombs and torpedo hits.

Plane Crashed Into Ship.
One of five enemy suicide planes broke through the screen of anti-aircraft fire and crashed into the flight deck, parts tearing into the hangar deck. The explosion which followed killed nine men and wounded 21.

Fires destroyed more than 36 of the carrier's planes, though they were not fueled or loaded, and no further explosions resulted. In 15 minutes, the crew of the Intrepid had the flight deck fires under control, and the hangar deck fires in 50 minutes.

While the fires raged, the ship commanded by Capt. Giles E. Short of Tacoma, Wash., stayed with her task force, fighting off attacking planes, maneuvering with the formation and continuing flight operations.

She successfully took aboard her own aircraft, but her damage forced her to return to the Hunter's Point, Calif., drydocks for repairs.

The 27,000-ton carrier suffered her first battle damage off Truk. A torpedo from a Jap plane damaged her steering mechanism and jammed her rudder. The Intrepid returned to Pearl Harbor.

Returns to Fight.
After repairs, the Intrepid returned to carry on her fight until October 29, 1944, off Luzon, when she was hit by one of the first successful Japanese suicide planes.

A Japanese Judy plummeted into the flight deck, slithered into a gun gallery, killed 10 gunners and started a fire. Six steward's mates serving as gunners were awarded Bronze Star medals.

This time the Intrepid repaired her own damage and continued to aid in setting the stage for the return of General MacArthur to the Philippines.

On November 25, 1944, during the preinvasion strikes, the Intrepid was hit again while operating off Luzon. A Japanese Zeke rocketed into her flight deck.

Scores of the ship's crew were killed or wounded. Minutes later, another suicide plane penetrated the anti-aircraft screen and crashed into the flight deck, killing and wounding additional personnel and starting fresh fires.

Arrangements were made with other ships to pick up survivors when it appeared probable the ship would have to be abandoned.

But in 13 minutes the fire was under control. The Intrepid was back in action in time to join in the fast carrier task force 58 strike in which the Franklin was damaged.

Atomic Bombs Are Called Cheaper to Use Than TNT

OAK RIDGE, TENN. — Atomic bombing is cheaper and more economical than the use of TNT as an explosive, Col. Kenneth D. Nichols, district engineer of the Manhattan Engineer district, said recently at a press conference.

"Figuring the cost of the 2,000 bombers it would take to drop a similar destructive charge, atomic bombing is cheaper both in costs and in men's lives," he said. "The number of men that atomic bombing enables to stay far behind the lines must be considered."

He said also that construction is continuing at Oak Ridge.

But what we have produced here was done more to help end the war than is shown in the expenditure of $2,000,000,000."

Nichols said the safety record for the Manhattan district was better than for army engineering construction as a whole.

Russ Helicopter Has Everything in Duplicate

MOSCOW. — Disclosure was made recently of a Soviet helicopter with double wings, two propellers and two motors. It was described as having a speed of 100 miles an hour and a landing speed of "approximately zero."

Photographs showed the machine hovering above the ground at 6 feet and the pilot alighting from the ladder.

Mass production has begun.

What's Back of My Gas Burners?

A thousand years ago, the Chinese used natural gas fuel for evaporating salt brine. They transported the gas in bamboo tubes. Thus, in those days, the gas business was simple. Now, however, it has become complicated and technical, utilizing many scientific devices and processes.

Since natural gas service so vitally affects your daily life, we believe you would enjoy knowing more about it. Therefore we plan to publish a series of four advertisements which will attempt to explain how natural gas is brought from its deep-underground reservoir to the burners of your gas appliances. Due to space limitations, the story must be brief and oversimplified. The drawing at the left will help you follow the gas on its travels.

Most of our gas comes from Hutchinson, Moore, Carson and Potter Counties in the Panhandle Gas Field, one of the largest in the world. We purchase some gas in Ector County for use in the southern portion of our system. In the Panhandle Field gas wells are generally drilled by the "rotary" methods, so named because of the rotating motion of the drill bit. A modern rotary drilling outfit costs from $100,000 to $200,000.

The hard steel drill bit is the cutting tool which drills down through successive strata of shale and rock. Screwed to the top of the bit is a string of hollow, round drill pipe which in turn is screwed into the bottom of a hollow, square pipe known as a "Kelly." The Kelly works through a square hole in the rotary turntable. Thus, when the engines spin the turntable, the Kelly, the drill pipe and the bit also spin, and the bit cuts its way downward. Heavy pumps force drilling mud down through the hollow Kelly and drill pipe, through perforations in the bit, then outside the pipe and back to the surface, carrying with it the cuttings from the bit. As the bit moves downward, additional joints of drill pipe are added below the Kelly.

When the gas producing horizon is reached, a string of steel pipe, known as casing, is inserted in the hole from the surface of the ground to the top of the producing horizon. After running the casing, cement is run thru the casing and forced out around the bottom in order to prevent the gas from escaping around the outside of the pipe. Then the well is drilled into the gas-producing horizon.

A steel derrick, capable of supporting weights of 200 tons or more, is used to support the drill pipe during drilling and the casing when casing is being installed. When the well is completed, the derrick is removed. In its place is installed a "Christmas Tree," an odd-looking assembly of valves and fittings necessary in producing, testing and maintaining the well.

Layman's League Held Meeting at Christian Church

The Layman's League of the First Christian Church held a meeting Wednesday evening, Nov. 22 at which representative leaders of all the churches in Canyon participated in a round table discussion of interchurch relations. The meeting was strictly "preacherless."

The League based its plans for this particular meeting on the theory that laymen will express themselves more fully at a round table if no preachers are present. Among the key noters at the round table were A. K. Goodman of the Baptist Church, J. W. Shook of the Methodist church, A. M. Meyer of the Presbyterian church. The laymen of the Christian church resolved to be good hosts by doing as little talking as possible. The minister of the host church sent a brief letter of welcome to the group and followed the wishes of the League by not being present personally.

West Texas State Closed For Brief Thanksgiving

Students of West Texas State will observe the Thanksgiving handed down to Americans by tradition, instead of the later one recognized officially for several years.

In view of this fact, holidays will begin tomorrow after classes, according to the registrar's office, and the 1945 catalogue. Classes will be resumed Monday morning at 8 o'clock.

Now that the war is over, most colleges and universities have gone back to the pre-war Thanksgiving vacation.

Miss Josephine Stueber, a member of the Demonstration School faculty last year, is now a member of the faculty of Louisiana State University.

History of Thanksgiving Day

By Roy L. Johnson

Thanksgiving Day is distinctly a custom of the United States and its citizens. It had its origin with the Pilgrim Colony whose settlers in 1621 set aside a special day for giving thanks unto almighty God for the bountiful blessings of the year. It was a harvest festival of deeply religious people, and often during colonial days the people observed special days of thanks at harvest time. Even today this special day is observed with more zeal in the New England states than in other parts of the country.

During the time of the American Revolution the American Congress recommended special observance of days of thanksgiving annually, and in 1784 a special day was observed to commemorate the signing of the treaty of peace between the new nation and England. In 1789 George Washington appointed a thanksgiving day to commemorate the adoption of the federal constitution. His official proclamation was as follows:

"Now, therefore, I do recommend and assign Thursday, the 28th day of November next, to be devoted by the people of these states to the service of that great and glorious Being, who is the beneficent Author of all the good that was, that is, or that will be. That we may all unite in the rendering unto Him our sincere and humble thanks for His kind care and protection of the people of this country previous to their becoming a nation—for the single and manifold mercies, and for the favorable interpretation of His province in the course and conclusion of the late war."

Thanksgiving was not observed every year, but in 1795 a special day was proclaimed to thank God for the general benefits and welfare of the nation. At irregular intervals for the first half of the nineteenth century Presidents issued Thanksgiving proclamations, but not until the administration of Abraham Lincoln did the custom become fixed as a national annual observance. Since 1863 it has been the custom for the President to issue such a proclamation which made the day a religious holiday for the District of Columbia and the Territories, and the governors have issued proclamations making it such in the States. It is recognized by practically all religious denominations, and during times of national emergency has been observed in a religious fashion rather than as just a holiday. Today it is especially significant and needful for all the people of this nation.

Gift of $500 Is Made to Chapel Campaign Fund

From "A Canyon Friend" who does not permit her name to be used comes a $500 contribution to the chapel building fund at West Texas State.

In announcing this gift, Dr. J. A. Hill said that the donor had expressed great interest in the project and stressed her pleasure in being able to hasten attainment of the $50,000 goal.

President Hill has received many informal assurances of contributions, which he hopes will be made at once.

"We are desirous of completing the campaign as soon as possible," Dr. Hill explained. "I hope that everyone who expects to make a contribution will do so right away."

Scores of small gifts are being received. Among the larger contributors are First Christian Church, Canyon, $1,000; White & Kirk, Amarillo, $1,000; Ira Allen, Houston, $500; Wm. Gatewood, Austin, $500; "Amarillo Friend," $500; Dr. C. T. McCasland, Tulsa, $300; Mel Davis, Pampa, $250; G. D. The completed chapel will be used for religious services, weddings, lectures, conferences, and similar purposes, but its program will not conflict with the schedules of local churches.

Education Week Is Observed by School

The climax of the observance of Book Week and Education Week came Thursday, November 15, when the parents of the students were invited to a program-tea in the high school library. The parents were entertained by talks from Mrs. Sligar, who was representative of the primary, Mr. Goodman of the intermediate grades, and Mrs. Montfort of the high school. After each speaker the parents were asked to participate in a brief discussion during which they could ask any question they wished. Mr. Savage acted as master of ceremonies.

Colorado Wins Season's Last

Hunter's 95-Yard Run In Locals' First Play Canceled by Penalty

In one of the best games of the season, the West Texas State Buffaloes were defeated in a heart-breaking game by the Colorado College Tigers in the last three minutes of playing time Saturday. The stands "went wild" as Delbert Green, second string quarterback for the Tigers, got off a pass from his own 24-yard line to Danny Goers, which was good for six points. Johnny Steele, Colorado fullback kicked the extra point, giving the Tigers a one-point margin. The Buffs did not have any intentions of leaving the score unchanged, and Eck Hunter returned the kick-off from his own goal line to the Colorado 23. After completion of five straight passes, the ball was brought to the Tigers' 18-yard stripe. Time out brought a penalty of five yards for the Buffs, moving the ball back to the 22. Hunter crossed left end to the 18 again and, with 25 seconds of playing time left, Kenneth Glasgow attempted a field goal. The try was a little wide and Colorado College took over on its 20-yard line with one play left.

Buff Score in Second Period
The Tigers started the scoring in the first period. A few minutes after the second period began, Hunter passed to Lloyd Johnson at the Tigers' 31. Glasgow went 15 and Hunter the last five for the tally. Bledsoe's kick was good. Again West Texas took the lead approximately five minutes later when Bill Greenfield intercepted Green's pass on his own 9-yard line and trotted 91 yards for a score with not a person touching him. Bledsoe's kick was blocked.

The Tigers went into a tie in the third quarter on a reverse pass play tossed to Lars Watson, good for 36 yards to the Buffs' 18. Steele went over for the score.

West Texas State went into the lead six minutes after the final quarter began. Hunter passed to Terrill, who fumbled, but recovered on the Colorado College 2-yard stripe for a first down. After Terrill failed to go over the first play, Glasgow carried the pigskin over for another score.

Scoring Play Called Back
The Buffs threatened on the first play after Colorado College had received the opening kick-off. Hunter took the ball on his own 9-yard line and went 91 yards to the goal, but the play was called back to the Colorado College 19, where the Buffs were penalized 15 yards at the Tiger 18. Colorado began to hold and took over on their own 35.

This was the only threat the Buffs made that did not result in a tally except for the attempted field goal in the final moments of the game.

Game statistics show Colorado College made 14 first downs, West Texas made 11. Colorado totaled 349 yards by air and ground, the Buffs totaled 272 in the air and on the ground. West Texas attempted 16 passes completing 9 for 143 yards; the Tigers tried 11 passes completing 4 for 139 yards. Three of the Tigers passes were intercepted by the Buff eleven.

Loyola U. to Be Opposition in Kansas City Double Header

West Texas State has drawn Loyola University—national intercollegiate champions last year—as her first opponent in the Kansas City double-header series opening December 21.

The other quintet in the double-headers will be Pepperdine College of Los Angeles, finalist in the National Intercollegiate Tournament at Kansas City. The double-header series will be held under the auspices of the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball and managed by E. S. Liston of Baker University, its executive secretary.

A second double-header series featuring other high ranking basketball teams will be offered in Kansas City on December 28-29.

Coach Gus Miller is a director of the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball. A total of 108 colleges from 28 states have competed in the national tournament in Kansas City. The association, managed and operated by and for colleges and universities, is planning an extensive post-war program.

Your columnist has composed a song—well, not exactly, for I still need the tune and also the words but how's this for a liltling title, "I'll Build You a Palace, Sweet Alice, in Dallas!"

And on the subject of rhyme, one of the most unusual newspaper headlines I ever heard of appeared in the Austin paper the day after the famous knight of the six-shooter, Ben Thompson, and his almost equally celebrated companion, King Fisher, were slain in San Antonio: "Ben Thompson, hero of many a bloody fight, Has fought his last and died last night; King Fisher, faithful to the end, Yielded up his life to save his friend."

We are indebted to the good memory of Dave Pena of Tyler, who spent his boyhood in Austin, for this headline.

Here's another bit of verse that is an old-time favorite, author unknown—called "One Step at a Time":

One step at a time, and that well placed,
We reach the grandest height;
One stroke at a time, earth's hidden stores
Will slowly come to light.
One seed at a time, and the forest grows,
One drop at a time and the river flows
Into the boundless sea.

One word at a time, and the greatest book
Is written and is read;
One stone at a time, and a palace rears
Aloft its stately head.
One blow at a time, and the tree's cleft through
And a city will stand where the forest grew.
A few short years before.

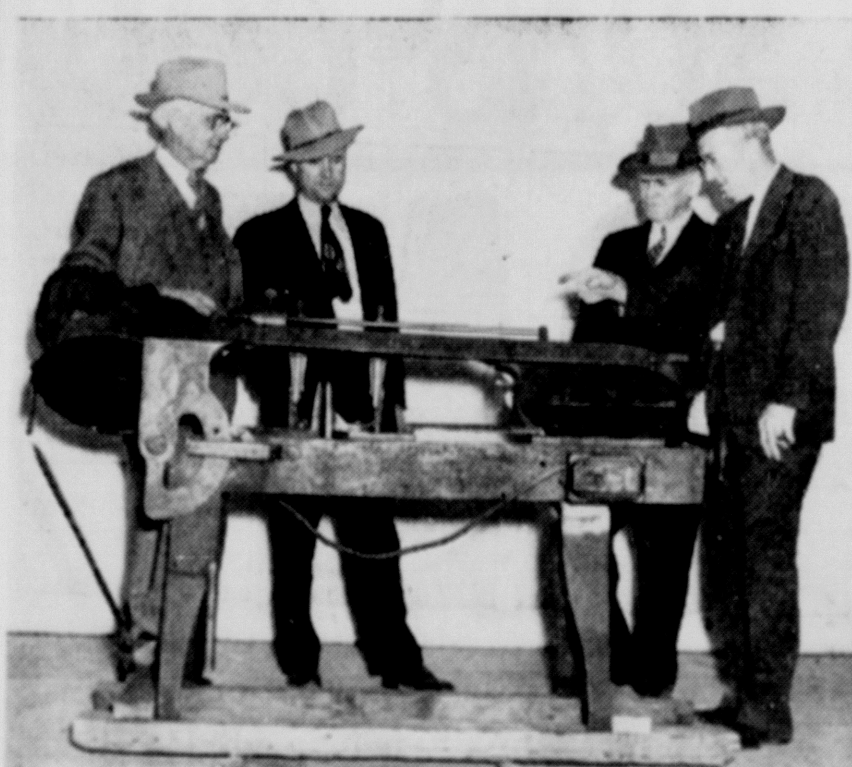

One foe at a time, and he subdued,
And the conflict will be won;
One grain at a time, and the sands of life
Will slowly all be run.
One minute, another, the hours thus fly
One day at a time, and our lives speed by Into eternity.

And then there was the lady who couldn't stand the way her husband continually talked to himself, so she finally went home to mutter.

Calves Win From Spearman Friday at Buffalo Field

The W. T. Calves edged the Spearman Lynx 6-2 Friday afternoon.

The first quarter started with W. T. receiving on their 34, returning to the 42. The game proceeded very slowly in the first quarter. More pep was added to the game in the second quarter when the Lynx drove to the W. T. 2 yard line. The Lynx failed their only chance of the game to score a touchdown. The Calves took possession of the ball and were caught behind the line for a safety. The Calves kicked to the Lynx, and the second quarter ended 2 to 0.

The third quarter proved victorious for the Calves as Hunter drove off tackle for the one and only touchdown.

The try for the extra point, kicked by Ewton, failed.
